JOURNAL OF THE FRANKLIN INSTITUTE.

Vol. CLVI.—July-December, 1903.

INDEX.

Acetylene blowpipe 318
  stored and transported in safety. (Seymour) 1
Acker process for alkali and bleaching powder. Report on 221
Airy's theory of the rainbow. (Hammer) 335
Alcohol as fuel in internal combustion engines 237
Alloys suitable for building purposes, a study of. (Clamer) 49, 297
Aluminum and beauxite 182
  new use for 386
  solder for 350
Ancient ruins of Rhodesia 237
Artificial camphor 182
  graphite 141
  and silicon. (FitzGerald) 416
  Niagara at St. Louis 466
Asbestos, a new product from 142
Asphaltum and bituminous rock, production of, in 1902 398
Atomic fog 316

Balch, E. S. (see Van Meerten).
Baldwin locomotives 318
Bearing-metal alloys, a study of. (Clamer) 49, 297
Beauxite and its uses 317
Bell's (Prof.) kite experiments 138
Blast-furnace gases, utilization of, for power purposes. (Kirchhoff) . . 81
Blow-pipe, acetylene 318
Book Notices 77, 159, 239, 319, 467, 468
Borax, production of in 1902 399
Bradbury, Robt. H. (see Partridge).
Bridges, minor, of Philadelphia. (Watson) 320

Calcium, metallic 452
Camphor, artificial 182
Carbide, new, chromium and tungsten 466
Carbon disulphide, graphics of, etc. (Gardner) 291
Catechu. (Ridenour) 417
Chromium and tungsten, double carbide 466
Census of manufactures of 1900. (Munroe) 33, 143

Chemistry, what physical chemistry has done for. (Jones) 425
Clamer, G. H. A study of alloys suitable for bearing purposes 49, 297
Clays of the U. S. east of the Mississippi River 399
Convergents and arithmetical series, etc. (Wadsworth) 131
Correspondence:
Polar navigation to high latitudes. (Van Meerten-Balch) 463
Crookes on atomic fog 316
Curie experiments with radium 18
Cutch (see Catechu).

Decorated Stove-Plate (1764) from west of the Susquehanna. (Himes) . 413
Drying coal 416
Dudley, C. B. Discussion on alloys for bearings (see Clamer).
Dynamo-electric machines, direct-current. Some practical points in the design of. (Poole) 365

Electric elevator for private residences, the Otis. Report on 215
Electric convection. (Meyer) 453
Electric railway signalling, automatic, etc. (Rosenberg) 161
Electric railway, Berlin-Zossen high-speed 462
Electricity on the Elevated Railways of New York 141
Elevated Railways of New York, electricity on the 141
Elizabeth Thompson fund 465
Engine record, good 334
English locomotives, life of 138
Eucalyptus, strange facts about the 236

Farrington, C. E. Defective machine insulation 119
FitzGerald. Artificial graphite and silicon 416
Floods of the Mississippi River, controlling. (Haupt) 241
Forrest, C. N. Discussion. Bearing metal alloys (see Clamer).
Foster, Rufus J. Safety mining lamps 97
Frazer, Dr. Persifor, elected to the Board of Managers 469

FRANKLIN INSTITUTE:
Committee on Science and the Arts:
Reports:
Toerring's enclosed arc lamp, Consolidated Machine Specialty Company's speed-controller, Eberhardt's radial-duplex gang cutters, Marks' enclosed arc lamp, Armstrong's valve mechanism, Taylor's improvements in the art of butter-making, 78; Speed-Changing Pulley Company's speed-changing pulley, Christian's improvements in steam engines, Morse's heat-gage, Sachs' enclosed electric fuses, Ferrell's process and apparatus for fire-proofing wood, the Addressograph, 79; American Brazing Company's method of brazing cast-iron, Condon's spiral elevator, Gill's "School City," 80; Wager-Smith's exposure scale for timing negatives, Burton's tube expander, 400; Clamer's process for utilizing waste metals, Hill's measuring device 470

Proceedings of Stated Meetings:
June to November, 1903 . . . . . 77, 320, 400, 469
Proceedings of Sections 80
Fuel oil. (Rowland) 139

Gardner, Thomas M. Graphics of carbon disulphide, with formulas and vapor table 291
Gas engine, development of 31
Gill, Wilson L. The "School City" 19, 421
Report on his system of education called the "School City" . . . 421
Goldschmidt's theory of harmony, report on, with appendix . . 225, 230, 301
Graphics of carbon disulphide, with formulas and vapor table. (Gardner) 291
Graphite, artificial 141 and silicon, artificial. (FitzGerald) 416

Hammer, D. Airy's theory of the rainbow 335
Harmony, Goldschmidt's theory of, report on, with appendix. (Richards) 225, 230, 301
Haupt, Lewis M. Controlling the floods of the Mississippi River . . . 241
High-speed electric railway, Berlin-Zossen 462
Himes, Chas. F. Decorated Stove-Plate (1764) from west of the Susquehanna 413
Howson, Charles H., elected to the Board of Managers 469
Hoxie, George L. The induction motor and its engineering capabilities 183, 261, 351

Igneous rocks, chemical analysis of 220
Induction motor and its engineering capabilities. (Hoxie) . . . 183, 261, 351
Insulation, defective machine. (Farrington) 119
Internal combustion engines, alcohol as fuel for 237
International Electrical Congress at St. Louis 469
Iron and steel trade in 1902 130
Iron pillar of Delhi 296

Jones, Harry C. What physical chemistry has done for chemistry . . . 425

Kirchhoff, Charles. Utilization of blast-furnace gases for power purposes 81
Kite experiments, Prof. Bell's 138

Lamps, safety mining. (Foster) 97
Largest blown-glass bottle 142
Lead and lead oxides, production of 451
Levy, Louis E. (and others). Report on the system of civic education called "the School City" 421
Liquid air, commercial applications of 318 hydrogen 424
Locomotives, English, life of 138
Lumber, scarcity of 260

Macaroni wheat 142
Magnesite, production of, in 1902 238
Meyer, J. Frank. Electric convection 453

Money saved by U. S. survey map 214
Munroe, Charles E. The census of manufactures of 1900 . . . . . 33, 143

Nernst lamps for public lighting, tests of 236
Nickel-steels, notes on 32

Packing rings, plumbago 96
Partridge, E. A., and R. H. Bradbury. Radio-activity 321
Phosphorus match, use of, prohibited in Germany 237
Physical chemistry, what it has done for chemistry. (Jones) 425
Platinum 452
Plumbago packing rings 96
Poole, Cecil P. Some practical points in the design of direct-current dynamo-electric machines 365
Power plant, new, at Niagara Falls 238 transmission in the Southern Appalachians 137
Prizes, Société Industrielle de Mulhouse 451
Society of Arts, London 469
Pupin and Jentsch on trans-oceanic telephony 117

Radio-active change 290 elements 452
Radio-activity. (Partridge and Bradbury) 321
measurements of 424
Radium, Curie experiments with 18
Lord Kelvin on 465
Rainbow, Airy's theory of the. (Hammer) 335
Recovery of tin from tin-scrap 316
Respirator for dangerous trades, prize for 469
Rhodesia, ancient ruins of 237

Ridenour, W. E. Catechu 417
Rosenberg, C. C. Automatic electric railway signalling: its purposes; also past and present installations 161
Rowland, John F., Jr. Fuel oil 139
Rubber supply, sources of 412

Safety mining lamps. (Foster) 97
Salamanderite—a new product from asbestos 142
"School City," the. (Gill) 19
report on the Gill system of civic education 421
Seymour, John S. Acetylene stored and transported in safety 1
Signals, ingenious danger 238
Silicon (and graphite), artificial. (FitzGerald) 416
Solder for aluminum 350
Static discharges in electric circuits. (Thomas) 387, 433
Strawboard waste; damage to natural water resources caused by 118
Steam turbine 452
Stove-Plate, decorated, from west of the Susquehanna (1764). (Himes) . 413
Sulphur production and consumption 452

Technolexicon of the Society of German Engineers 349
Telephony, trans-oceanic. Pupin and Jentsch on 117
Thomas, Percy H. Static discharges in 387, 433
Tin ore from great depths in Dalcoath mine, Cornwall 452
-scap, recovery of tin from 316

Utilization of blast-furnace gases for power purposes. (Kirchhoff) . . 81

Van Meerten-Balch. Some important polar navigations to high latitudes 463
